1. Claims 1-9 remain for examination.
2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Komura (6,216,232).
3. As to the amended feature of pipeline in claim 1, the change in pipeline instruction does not affect the original scope of instructions because original claim 1 already taught instruction execution pipeline (see claim 1, lines 3-4).
4. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Douglas et al. (6,609,193).
5. The rejections are maintained and incorporated by reference the last office action on 02/22/06.
6. The response filed on 05/15/06 has been fully considered but is not persuasive. In the remarks, applicant argued that both Komura and Douglas made decision as to whether or not to stop the pipeline stage during execution upon certain conditions while applicant is directed to no decision-making, and the pipeline instructions stipulates which particular pipeline stage should be stopped without a decision making during execution.
7. As to applicant's remark above, nowhere does applicant's claim recite that the stipulating does not have decision making, or the like. applicant is reminded that unclaimed features cannot be used to overcome the prior art (e.g. see CCPA In re Lundenberg & Zuschlag, 113, USPQ 530, 534 (1957)). Nevertheless, Douglas taught his pipeline decode needed to stall the instruction pipeline at buffer full (see col.6, lines 60-67). The buffer full was a default, and did not involve with decision making.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
